LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

SOUTH WALES.

POLICE DEPARTMENT.

(ANNUAL REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1924.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 25 March, 1925. 192

The Inspector-General of Police to The Honorable the Chief Secretary.

Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 2 March, 1925.

Dear Sir.

As required by the Police Regulations, the Annual Report on the Police Service of this State for the year 1924 is submitted to the Minister.

The criminal statistics for the year ended the 31st December last disclose that, in regard to the number Position in of cases brought before the Courts, there has been a decrease, both in respect of serious crime and the total regard number of cases for all classes of offences. The more serious offences (including offences against the person, against property with violence, and against property without violence) during 1924 numbered 474 less than the total for the previous year. It will be further seen from the criminal statistics for the State, as set out below, that the total number of cases under all headings for 1924 was 6,418 less than that for 1923.

The Police Force has nevertheless been fully occupied, and the business of the Department has Continued continued to expand. This is shown by the fact that the number of papers dealt with in the Inspector-departmental business.

General's Office during 1924 was 229,541, as against 224,153 during 1923.

The revenue collected in the Motor Traffic Branch also shows a large increase as compared with the previous year, the totals being £311,842 for 1923, and £424,899 for 1924.

The position in regard to recruiting for the Police service has improved, and the Force is at present strength of the only 50 short of the full authorised strength.

Criminal Statistics for the State generally.

Full details respecting the number of cases dealt with by the Courts throughout the State are Appendix A set out in Appendix A of this Report. The figures contained in that Appendix include all cases dealt with by the Police either by apprehension or summons, and the subjoined table affords a comparison with the figures for 1921, 1922, and 1923:—

	1921.	1922.	1923.	1924,		r Decrease ver 1923.

Net decrease 6,418

The decrease of 6,418 cases was mainly accounted for under the following headings:—Simple larceny, or attempts at; stealing in a dwelling; ordinary assault and assaults on females; forging and uttering; idle and disorderly person; drunkenness; riotous, indecent or obscene behaviour; using profane, indecent or obscene language; playing games to the annoyance of residents; breaches of the Railway and Tramway By-laws; breaches of the Deserted Wives and Children Act; breaches of the Dog and Goat Act and the Early Closing Act; breaches of the Gun License Act and the Industrial Arbitration Act; breaches of the Irrigation Act and Land and Income Tax Act; breaches of the Local Government Act and Ordinances and the Masters and Servants Act; breaches of the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage Act and By-laws and the Neglected Children and Juvenile Offenders Act; and breaches of the Pastures Protection Act.

Appendix A1.

Attention is invited to the graph and details shown in Appendix A1.

Serious crime.

The total number of the more serious cases of crime reported, as published in the Police Gazette during 1924, was 8,889, as against 8,551 for the previous year, showing an increase of 338. The principal increases were under the following headings:—Murder and attempts at, 27; manslaughter, 10; stealing from the person, 29; cattle stealing, 31; uttering forged cheques, false prétences, &c., 125; burglaries and stealing from premises, 148; deserted wives and children, 44.

Decreases are, however, recorded under the following headings:—Attempted arson, 14; mail robberies, 14; children abandoned, 14; jewellery, &c., stolen, 37; horse stealing, 20.

With regard to the foregoing particulars it must be borne in mind that the figures respecting serious offences, published in the Police Gazette, relate to offences reported to the Police as having occurred, whereas the details furnished under the heading of "Criminal Statistics for the State generally" cover the actual number of cases which came before the Courts, i.e., in which prosecutions were undertaken.

Appendix B. Juvenile erime. Particulars respecting the number of juvenile offenders and effences committed by them of a serious nature during 1924 are contained in Appendix B. It will be seen from the information therein supplied that the amount of crime committed by persons of tender years is still serious.

Inquests.

The total number of inquests held during 1924 was 1,766. Of this number 1,484 were on dead bodies (the total number of bodies being 1,521), and 282 on fires.

Breaches of Section 463 of the Crimes Act

Breaches of section 463 of the Crimes Act occurred in 42 instances, as compared with 32 in the previous year.

The number of first offenders discharged under the Crimes Act, 1900, was 501—a decrease of 74

Prisoners released under the Crimes Act.

The number of cases reported of wife and child desertion was 1,228, as compared with 1,184 for

Wife and child deserters.

1923-an increase of 44.

There were 5 cases of extradition from the State-all to New Zealand.

Habitual

Since the Habitual Criminals Act came into force in 1905, 104 persons have been declared to be babitual criminals, viz:—

Net decrease ... ... ... ... 6,426.

In addition to the foregoing figures there were 12,553 cases in connection with applications for Orders of Court and 4,088 cases of non-compliance with Orders. The principal increases were:—

Offences against the person. - Murder, manslaughter and assaults in company.

Offences against property with violence.—Burglary, breaking and entering, and maliciously injuring property.

Offences against property without violence —Embezzlement, false pretences, receiving stolen property, fraudulent appropriation, having goods in custoly supposed stolen.

Offences against good order.—Using threatening, abusive or insulting words; cruelty to animals, carrying fire-arms on Sunday, and travelling on steamer without paying fare.

Other offences not included in the preceding. - Breaches of the Companies Act, breaches of Defence Act and Gaming and Betting Act, breaches of Government Railways Act and By-laws, breaches of Metropolitan Traffic Act and Regulations, Motor Tax Managoment Act, and Motor Traffic Act and Regulations, and breaches of Weights and Measures Act.

The main decreases were under the following headings: -Assault occasioning actual bodily harm, assaults on members of the Police Force, assaults on females, common assault, simple larceny, steaking in a dwelling, horse stealing, forging and uttering, forgery, idle and disorderly person, drunkenness, drunkenness with disorderly conduct, riotous, indecent or offensive behaviour, using profane, indecent, or abusive language, breaches of the Railway and Tramway By-laws, sly grog selling, breaches of the Dog and Goat Act, Early Closing Act, Hawkers and Pedlers Act, Industrial Arbitration Act, Land and Income Tax Act, Liquor Act, Local Government Act and Ordinances, Metropolitan Water and Sewerage Act and By-laws, and Public Instruction Act.

In connection with the criminal statistics for the Metropolitan Area, the total value of property reported as stolen during 1924 was £217,212, and the value of property recovered or accounted for by the Police was £216,473.

Finger-prints.

During 1924 the number of sets of finger-prints received was 8,547, as against 8,532 for the Finger-prints as previous year. Of this number, 3,584 have been identified, or 209 more identifications than for 1923. In evidence. cases of housebreaking and stealing and 2 cases in connection with forged notes, finger prints constituted the chief evidence, and in each instance convictions resulted. In 32 other cases of housebreaking finger-prints of the culprit were identified, but the necessity for giving evidence at Court was obviated by the accused admitting the offences.

Articles to the number of 968 were examined in the Finger-print Branch during the year, while 431 Examinations. visits were made by members of the Finger-print staff to different places in the city, suburbs and country for the purpose of obtaining evidence in connection with serious crimes.

The bodies of fourteen unknown deceased persons were identified through the examination of their Identification of deceased finger-prints, which afforded the sole means of identification.

The number of photographs of criminals received from the Prisons Department and circulated for Criminal Police information was 1,276; 9,350 copies were distributed to the various Australian States and New Photographs Zealand, while 35,700 were supplied to the city and country Police in this State. The number of photographs received from other States of the Commonwealth and New Zealand was 1,818. During the year finger-print classifications in code of two persons arrested in England were cabled from Scotland Yard, and in both instances the identity of these persons was established here and their criminal histories cabled

Water Police.

During 1924 the total number of interstate and overseas vessels entering and leaving Sydney Harbour (excluding Naval vessels) was 2,508, as against 1,515 during 1923, with a gross tonnage of 12,205,567 tons. In addition there were 5,783 coastal vessels, with a gross tonnage of 3,123,464 tons, making a grand total of 8,291 vessels, with a gross tonnage of 15,329,031 tons. Assistance was rendered to the crews of seven sailing boats which capsized, the total number of persons rescued in this manner being 58. The bodies of 22 persons were recovered from the Harbour, extensive dragging operations being necessary in a number of cases. Nine small fires occurred on vessels in port.

Women Special Constables.

The duties required of the Women Special Constables attached to the Metropolitan District were satisfactorily carried out.

Metropolitan Licensing Inspection.

The number of hotels in the Metropolitan Licensing District on the 31st December, 1924, Hotels was 529, a decrease of 14 during the year. This decrease was due to the operations of the Licenses Reduction Board.

During the year objections were lodged in five instances to the renewal of publicans' licenses, three Objections to on the ground of structural defects and two on account of the manner in which the premises were conducted. The renewal was, however, granted in each case. Improvement has continued to be made in the class of hotel buildings in the District. The number of applications for rebuilding and material alteration was 77, and 76 of these were granted, and 1 withdrawn. Also a large amount of rebuilding and improvement has been undertaken voluntarily by the owners of licensed premises.

The number of spirit merchants' licenses in force at the end of the year was 125, a decrease of 6 during the year. There was also a decrease of 7 in the number of billiard licenses in force in the Metropolitan Licensing District, the number on the 31st December, 1924, being 155. On the same date the number of Australian wine licenses was 174. The number of brewers' licenses remained unaltered, viz., 3.

The quality of liquor sold has, generally speaking, been of a satisfactory standard.

Appendix C affords particulars of convictions obtained under the Liquor Act in the Metropolitan ppentix C. Licensing District (including convictions against Australian wine licensees).

Traffic Branch.

Rapid expansion continues in the work of the Traffic Branch. The revenue collected on account of registration of public vehicles and tax on motor vehicles amounted in all to £424,899, an increase of no less than £113,057, as compared with the total for the previous year. The total number of motor vehicles registered or licensed as at the 31st December, 1924, was 92,553, an increase of 24,155 over the figures for 1923. At the 31st December, 1924, there were 14 motor vehicles (5 patrols and 9 cars), and 38 motor cycles in the service of the Department, which proved of considerable advantage in the performance of Police duties.

Appendix D.

Details of the revenue collected, particulars of street accidents, and other information respecting the work of the Traffic Branch will be found in Appendix D.

Motor Vehicles

A new scale of fees and charges in connection with the registration of, and taxation on, motor Motor Vehicles (Taxation) Act, 1924, and Motor Vehicles (Taxation) Act, 1924, and Motor Vehicles (Taxation) Management Act, 1924, which take effect from the 1st January, 1924, ment Act, 1924. in connection with these Acts was necessary during December, 1924. vehicles was provided for by the Motor Vehicles (Taxation) Act, 1924, and the Motor Vehicles (Taxation) Management Act, 1924, which take effect from the 1st January, 1925. A good deal of preparatory work

Towards the end of 1924 Inspector Charles Turbet (now Superintendent of Traffic), visited America for the purpose of obtaining first-hand knowledge of traffic conditions in the principal cities of the United States. He also visited Toronto and Vancouver (in Canada).

Miscellaneous.

Industrial disputes.

Various industrial disturbances occurred during the year, but except in one or two instances the men concerned were orderly.

Visit of Royal Naval Special Service Squadron,

The Royal Naval Special Service Squadron, led by H.M.S. Hood, arrived at Port Jackson on the 9th April, 1924, and remained until the 20th idem. Special Police arrangements were made for the occasion, and it is gratifying to record that the large volume of pedestrian and vehicular traffic was dealt with satisfactorily. The Water Police were also busily occupied during the visit of the fleet.

Police Appeal Beard.

The Police Appeal Board, constituted under the Police Regulation (Appeals) Act, 1923 commenced operations during the year.

Police Miniature Rifle Range.

An up-to-date miniature rifle range was opened on the 17th March at the Police Depot, and a club was formed, which is making satisfactory progress.

Wireless tele-phony for Police purposes.

The Police instruction classes were continued with satisfactory results.

Experiments are being made with wireless telephony. Satisfactory results are being obtained,

Missing Friends.

The number of inquiries received respecting missing friends during 1924 was 2,341, as compared with 2,155 for 1923. The number of persons traced was 1,544, the number for the previous year being 1,434. Included in the total number of inquiries were 1,172 from all parts of the British Empire (including Great Britain and the Commonwealth), and 204 from foreign countries.

Dangers and risks incidental to the performance of Police duties.

A sergeant who had occasion to arrest a man in Norton-street, Leichhardt, for assault, was himself violently assaulted and had to receive medical attention. The sergeant was absent from duty for several weeks owing to his injuries.

A constable arrested two men in Pyrmont and was assaulted by one of the offenders, with the result that hospital treatment was necessary, and the constable was absent from duty for fifteen days.

At Broken Hill a constable proceeded to arrest a man, and was violently assaulted by a second man, whom, however, he succeeded, after a severe struggle, in taking to the police station. The constable was afterwards admitted to the hospital with a broken jaw, dislocated finger, and other injuries.

In Botany-road, Waterloo, a constable, while arresting a man for offensive behaviour, was assaulted by the latter. The constable succeeded in taking him to the police station, but afterwards had to obtain hospital treatment.

At Broken Hill a constable was assaulted by two men, and after a protracted struggle, in which he succeeded in handcuffing one of the men, was struck with a handcuff and rendered unconscious. The constable was admitted to hospital, and the two offenders subsequently arrested and convicted.

At Paddington a sergeant was violently assaulted by a man who had been behaving in a riotous manner at a restaurant. The offender was arrested and convicted, but the sergeant was absent from duty for thirteen days owing to injuries received.

At Albury a constable on traffic duty near the Show Ground was knocked down by a motor car and afterwards admitted to Albury Hospital. The driver of the car was subsequently convicted for driving in a manner dangerous to the public.

At Darlinghurst a constable detected a man in a house. When challenged by the constable the man fired three shots, none of which, fortunately, took effect. The offender was subsequently arrested and sentenced, and the presiding judge commended the constable on his conduct.

In Harris-street, Pyrmont, a constable arrested a man for drunkenness and bad almost taken him to the station when another man struck the constable on the head with a billet of wood, with the result that the constable had to be taken to hospital.

Establishment.

Appendix E.

On the 31st December, 1924, the Force, including 33 trackers, numbered 2,923, while the authorised strength on the same date, exclusive of trackers, was 2,943. Details respecting the various grades in the Police Force are furnished in Appendix E.

Appointments.

Applications for appointment to the Police Service were received during the year from 1,256 persons, but of this number only 268 were successful. 682 were rejected for various reasons, while 291 failed to pass medical examination by the Police Surgeon. Fifteen others did not proceed with their applications. There were also 784 who made personal inquiry respecting qualifications for appointment, but who, on account of physical deficiency or other causes, did not complete formal applications.

Transfers.

The name of the station at Watson's Bay was changed to Vaucluse.

Obley.

Mossgiel.

Dubbo District

Riverina District

Transfers to more congenial climates were made during the year as follows:—10 men from the Dubbo district, 7 men from the Broken Hill district, and 8 men from the Riverina district.

Police Buildings.

Owing to the small amount of money available on the Public Works Fund Vote for the erection of new Police buildings and the maintenance of existing premises, it has not been possible for such requirements to be satisfactorily attended to, but the outlook for the present financial year is much brighter and it is expected that several new Police buildings will be erected. The question of acquiring sites for Police purposes, and the gradually increasing sum paid annually for the rental of private quarters for the carrying out of Police business, are still matters of grave concern to the Department.

Health of Police.

The number of Police on sick report during 1924 was less than the previous year, and this was, no doubt, owing to the absence of any severe epidemic and to a decrease in the number of assaults upon members of the Police Force.

Ambulance and Life-saving Certificates.

In the public interests Police are encouraged to attend Ambulance and Life-saving Classes, and thereby acquire useful knowledge of the methods of rendering First Aid and of Life-saving. On the 31st December, 1924, 1,288 members of the Force held Ambulance Certificates, and 250 were in possession of Life-saving Certificates, a number also possessing the Royal Life-saving Society's Medallion.

Acts of Bravery.

During 1924 a number of incidents came under notice in which courageous acts were performed by members of the Force.

In Parramatta road, Petersham, two desperate safe-blowers were detected in a warehouse. A number of Police surrounded the building, and it was found that the men had concealed themselves between the roof and the ceiling of the building. A constable climbed through the man-hole, and, with the aid of two other Police who followed, arrested the men. At the trial the constable was commended by the presiding Judge for the courage displayed by him.

At South Kensington a constable detected a man coming out of a house in Anzac-parade, who seriously assaulted the constable when the latter attempted to effect an arrest. After a struggle the offender escaped, but the constable pursued him until he ran into the home of another member of the Force, where he was apprehended.

In Walsh Bay a lady fell overboard from the s.s. Barrabool, and a constable, fully clothed, dived into the water from No. 9 wharf, and with the assistance of another man effected a rescue. The constable was subsequently awarded a Bronze Medal and a Certificate of Merit by the Royal Shipwreck Relief and Humane Society.

At Coogee a man found a thief in his house and sent for the Police. Two constables entered the premises and were shot at, and after returning the fire the Police arrested the offender.

New South Wales Police Band.

The standard of efficiency displayed by the Police Band is highly satisfactory. During 1924 performances were given at various functions in aid of public, charitable, and patriotic institutions. A concert given in conjunction with the Marrickville Police in aid of the Marrickville Cottage Hospital realised £160, while a concert in the Sydney Town Hall in aid of the South Sydney Hospital realised £200. At Wellington the Band performed in connection with the "Back to Wellington Week." The sum of £450 was realised, which went towards the building of a War Memorial at Wellington.

Conduct of Police.

Generally speaking, the conduct of the Force was very satisfactory, and Police duties were efficiently discharged.

Appendices.

In addition to the Appendices already mentioned, statements are appended which set out the nationalities of members of the Force, and the ages and length of service of Police in the various ranks.
