

1894-5.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

POLICE DEPARTMENT.

(REPORT FOR 1894.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

The Inspector-General of Police to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir, Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 11 January, 1895.

In compliance with the instructions of the Chief Secretary, and as required by the Police Regulations, I have the honor to submit, for the Colonial Secretary's information and for presentation to Parliament, my Annual Report for the year 1894, accompanied by the usual statement of the strength and distribution of the constabulary.

New stations have been formed in the undermentioned places :--

Ulladulla	Eastern District.
Milthorpe	Western District.
Wyalong	Southern District.
Chatsworth	Northern District.
Lucknow	Western District.
Nine-mile	Northern District.
Burrawang	Eastern District.
Dundas	Eastern District.
Castle Hill	Eastern District.
Garangula	Southern District.
Mulgoa	Eastern District.
Yal-Wal	Eastern District.
Mount Drysdale	Bourke District.

Applications have been received for additional police for the following stations :—White Cliffs, Leichhardt, Peakhurst, Liverpool, Campbelltown, Parkes, Gulgong, Arncliffe, Mount Hope, Walbundrie, Alexandria, Strathfield and Homebush, Wanaaring, Yantabulla, Goodooga, Canowindra, and Wellington.

The stations at Bumberry, Goorangoola, and Purnamoota were discontinued.

To increase the strength of the Force at certain stations, and to fill vacancies occasioned as under, 138 appointments were made during the year :—

Resignations	43
Discharges	38
Dismissals	2
Superannuations	18
Deaths	12

Four Police pensioners died in 1894, who had been in receipt of pensions amounting in the aggregate to £377 6s. 3d.

Eighteen members of the Force of various ranks were superannuated during the year, ten receiving pensions at rates varying between £91 5s. and £191 12s. 6d., amounting in all to £1,425 0s. 5d. per annum, and eight were granted gratuities upon their discharge, which entailed a further charge upon the Fund of £876.

Seven widows of members of the Force were awarded gratuities from the Police Reward Fund amounting in all to £1,691 1s. 8d., and one a pension of £50 per annum.

The Treasury Accounts show that the condition of the Police Reward and Superannuation Funds still continues to become each year more unsatisfactory, as after debiting the pensions to 31st December against the Funds there remains a balance of only £17,609 3s. 11d., inclusive of investments, £17,000. Since the year 1890, when the investments to the credit of the funds amounted to £40,000, £23,000 worth of these debentures have had to be disposed of to meet the excess of expenditure over revenue.

The

The Station watch-house records in the Metropolitan District show a decrease for the year of 403 apprehensions.

Total number of arrests for 1894	22,941
Do do 1893	23,344

There were 678 more apprehensions for drunkenness, simple or accompanied by disorderly conduct, than during the previous year, and a slight decrease for habitual drunkenness.

Serious crime during the year is below the average, with the exception of arson, 110 cases having occurred, as against 90 in 1893. There is a decrease of 16 in the number of murders reported, also 200 less cases for burglaries and robberies from dwellings than in the preceding year. The numbers are as under:—

Offence.	1893.	1894.	Increase.	Decrease.
Arson	90	110	20
Murder	31	15	16
Burglary and robberies from dwellings.....	2,119	1,919	200

The statement following gives an idea of the licensing business transacted in the Metropolitan District during the year:—

Applications.	Granted.	Refused.	Withdrawn.	No Parties.	Total.
For new publicans' licenses.....	5	5
For conditional licenses	6	6	7	19
By landlords, under section 16	12	8	6	26
For colonial wine licenses	49	18	12	5	84
For publicans' transfers	395	24	54	17	490
For colonial wine license transfers ...	24	1	1	1	27

The number of public-house licenses in actual existence is 797, as against 808 in 1893.

There were 242 colonial wine licenses in existence in 1893, as against 231 in 1894; decrease, 11. Spirit merchants' licenses, 115 in 1893, as against 106 in 1894; decrease, 9. Brewers licenses, 8 in 1893, as against 10 in 1894; increase, 2. Packet licenses, 20 in 1893, as against 19 in 1894. Billiard licenses, 168 in 1893, as against 161 in 1894; decrease, 7.

Notwithstanding that the population in the city and suburbs has increased since the Principal Licensing Act came into force in January, 1882, from 248,231 to 426,600, an increase in thirteen years of 69 per cent, there are now 51 public-houses less, the numbers being 797 in 1894, as against 848 in 1882, or 1 public-house to every 528 of the inhabitants in 1894, as compared to one to 293 in 1882.

The Metropolitan Licensing Inspector reports that "this satisfactory result has not to any large extent been influenced by the operation of the local option vote, but to the administration of the Act by the Licensing Bench, upon representations made by the police."

A number of old premises that from age and dilapidation no longer provided any public convenience have been closed during the year, and licenses have been very sparingly granted to a new and improved class of building containing residential accommodation.

The Superintendent in charge of the Metropolitan District reports that "nothing out of the ordinary course occurred during the year. The small decrease in the number of persons arrested is no doubt mainly attributable to the withdrawal from the metropolis of a large number of police for service in the country for several months, rather than to any improvement in the moral condition of the people. The large decrease in proportion to population in the number of houses licensed for the sale of liquors since 1882 is, I think, on philanthropic grounds, eminently satisfactory.

"The Sunday closing clause is, I regret to say, no better observed by licensees than in previous years, and it is found impracticable, without neglecting other important duties, to employ a sufficient number of men to enforce this law.

"The Metropolitan Police Barracks established two years ago have been of the most essential service in enabling me to have in constant readiness a considerable number of men for despatch to the country at the shortest possible notice. They have been also of equal advantage in emergencies arising in the metropolis, their utility for the purpose of discipline having been found of the highest value.

"As a consequence of the large number of unemployed persons about the city, the annoyance to the public of persons standing on the footways has been considerably aggravated during the year. The existing Municipal by-laws are found inadequate to meet the evil, and such an amendment of our Police Act as would enable the Police to suppress this pernicious practice is urgently called for."

During the year, 1,110 inquests were held on the bodies of deceased persons, and in 89 cases death was found to be the result of intemperance.

One hundred and sixty-seven inquests on fires were held, in which 68 were returned as "wilful," 52 as "accidental," and 47 not specified.

There have been 586 inquiries for missing friends during the year, out of which 271 persons sought for have been discovered by the Police. These figures include 152 cases reported from Great Britain and elsewhere beyond Australasia. The figures show an increase as compared with 1893 of 107 reported missing and 48 found.

I think it desirable to draw the Chief Secretary's special attention to the constantly-increasing duties imposed upon the Police relating to matters entirely foreign to their legitimate functions. I enumerate below some of the duties referred to, together with figures, which will give an idea of the large amount of work entailed.

Proceedings have been taken by the police on behalf of the Public Instruction Department under the compulsory education clauses for neglect to send children to school and recovery of school fees, &c., in 1,807 cases. Inquiries have also been conducted for the Master-in-Lunacy in 664 cases; 385 cases for the State Children's Relief Department and the Government asylums; 98 cases on behalf of the Superintendent of the N. S. S. "Sobraon"; 659 inquiries were made by the police for fossickers to recover moneys advanced to them by the Superintendent of the Labour Bureau, and 650 notices were served on behalf of the Land Board.

The police also perform the duties of—

Acting Clerks of Petty Sessions.
 Crown lands bailiffs.
 Acting gaolers.
 Acting forest rangers.
 Inspectors of weights and measures.
 Inspectors of slaughter-houses.
 Inspectors of distilleries.
 Inspectors under Fisheries Act.
 Inspectors under Gunpowder and Explosives Act.
 Inspectors under Licensing Act.
 Local authorities under Noxious Trades and Cattle-Slaughtering Act.
 Local authorities, Dairies Supervision Act.
 Agents for Curator of Intestate Estates.
 Collectors of Electoral Roll.
 Collectors of pastoral, agricultural, mills, manufactories, private schools, and slaughtering establishments.
 Mining registrars, Wardens' clerks, and bailiff's.
 Issuers of miners' rights, business and mineral licenses.
 Registrars of Small Debts Courts.
 Bailiff's of Small Debts Courts.
 Customs Officers.
 Agents for Aborigines Protection Board.
 Agents for inquiries under Poisons Act.
 Deputy Electoral Registrars.
 Local authorities under Diseased Animals and Meat Act.

I am not prepared to suggest any alteration in the system, which is in all probability the most effective method for securing a due performance of the work required, as it certainly is the most economical; but it has disadvantages, and constant complaints are made by the public of the protracted absence of constables from their stations, and the necessary neglect of patrols and other active measures for the detection of criminals and the prevention of crime.

During the past year, from the month of July to the close of the year, shearing troubles existed throughout one-half the area of the Colony, which necessitated the withdrawal of three officers and 282 non-commissioned officers and constables from Sydney and other districts for duty in the localities where disturbances occurred, such force being in addition to that available in those districts.

The cost entailed in moving bodies of mounted and foot police to such remote places, in the escort of prisoners, and also in maintaining the police, was very considerable, and the difficulty in making provision for the discharge of the necessary duties during their absence from their stations taxed the officers and men remaining to their utmost, but fortunately no increase of crime resulted, nor failure to satisfactorily deal with any serious offences committed.

The following is a statement of the apprehensions made by the police in connection with the strike disturbances:—

For riot and riotous behaviour	85
„ arson... ..	18
„ malicious injury to property	19
„ assault and obstructing persons from following lawful occupations	47
„ threatening language	1
„ insulting language	1
„ using offensive words	1
„ unlawfully and falsely imprisoning	1
„ obscene language	1
„ illegally using a horse	1
Total... ..	175

During the strike I caused an estimate to be made of the number of persons throughout the Colony in camps and unemployed, and the returns gave the total number as about 16,000.

During the past year a consignment of 200 Webley service revolvers have been received towards the completion of the arming of the foot police.

The conduct of the police generally has been exceptionally good, only two men having been dismissed from the service during the year.

I have, &c.,

EDMUND FOSBERY,
 Inspector-General of Police.

RETURN of the Strength and Distribution of the Police Force on the 31st December, 1894.
