NINTH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

AUDITOR GENERAL

ON

THE TREASURER'S STATEMENT OF THE RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURE OF THE CONSOLIDATED REVENUE FUND, AND OTHER MONEYS, FOR THE YEAR 1879.

(Under Act 33 Victoria No. 18.)

IN transmitting the Treasurer's Statements of Receipts and Expenditure for the year 1879, in accordance with the directions contained in the 38th section of the "Audit Act of 1870," I do myself the honor to accompany them with the following Report :—

2. The Statements were received on the 30th March and were returned to the Treasury on the 1st ultimo for the consideration of such amendments as the audit had shown to be required. They were returned to me with the necessary corrections or with satisfactory explanation on the 2nd instant.

3. Similar delay to that which has attended the passing of the Appropriation Act for several years past is observable in the appropriation for the year 1879.*

The exigencies of the Public Service were met by monthly Supply Bills up to the month of July, appropriating a total sum of £3,219,493, subject for the most part to any reduction that might be made in the votes under the annual Appropriation Act.

The inconveniences arising from the state of uncertainty in which this delay involves the public departments can only be adequately appreciated by those upon whose shoulders the onus of carrying on the administrative details of the government is placed. Nor does the evil end here, for the delay is productive of absolute loss. Increase in the expenditure is the natural result of hurried work, and contractors know well how to take advantage of the departments that are pushed to the very last extremity to get their invitations for tenders out and their contracts signed before the expiration of the limited time allowed to them by the Audit Act.

4. Were the determination come to, to provide for the wants of the Service before the close of the previous year, it seems to me that the "Advance" vote to the Treasurer, which has reached the large sum of £100,000, would no longer be required, for its employment is for the most part in the way of advances to meet claims that have received no Parliamentary sanction.

The advance in the first instance was the offspring of the delay in passing the Appropriation Act, and would naturally shrink to much smaller proportions, if it did not disappear altogether, upon a return to timely supply.

* The Appropriation Act for the year 1875 was passed in August, 1875.
 " 1876 " August, 1876.
 " 1877 " October, 1877.
 " 1878 " May, 1878.
 " 1879 " July, 1879.

5. In 1877 the passing of the Appropriation Act for the services of that year having been delayed till near the middle of the month of October it was deemed necessary to make exceptional provision for prolonging the life of the votes beyond the time allowed by the Audit Act. The expedient was adopted of tacking a clause to the Appropriation Act which enacts that "No appropriation included in this Act shall lapse until the 31st day of December, 1878."

The 17th clause of the Audit Act was by this means defeated, and a similar course has been pursued with the appropriations of the two following years. I would very respectfully venture to suggest, for the consideration of your Honorable House, that whilst it may provide a remedy for some of the inconveniences consequent upon tardy supply its continuance as a fixed provision of the Appropriation Act is not unlikely to produce disturbance in the Public Accounts of a more serious nature than the inconvenience its presence is intended to remove. There will be delay instead of promptitude. The adjustment of advances will be prolonged and that prompt finality in the audit and rendering of the accounts of the expenditure of its votes to Parliament, which it is the object of the Audit Act to secure, will in a great measure be defeated.

6. Taking advantage of the authority given to me by the 39th section of the Audit Act, I would venture to submit the following suggestions for consideration, with a view to the simplification of the system hitherto pursued in dealing with the annual votes. The distinction maintained between payments for "Arrears" and "Current Services" appears to me to answer no good purpose, and should be abandoned. The votes should be taken to meet the probable actual payments within the financial year, irrespective of date of service, thus extending the principle already adopted in a few of the services—notably the Survey—to all the ordinary and regularly recurring departmental expenditure.

The adoption of an uniform system which treats the receipts and payments within the financial year as the basis of appropriations and of the accounts laid before Parliament, would greatly reduce the number of figures in the Annual Statements, and facilitate the record and audit of the Public Accounts. It would remove the difficulties which attend a strict interpretation of the 17th section of the Audit Act, and it would give freer scope to the application of unused balances under the 18th section of the same Act.

7. With regard to unused balances for Public Works, which are specially excepted from the operation of the 18th section, as well as for any special service of an occasional character, a plan could readily be devised in consonance with the principle advocated, whereby the life of the vote could be prolonged to any fixed time, when, if not operated upon, it would fall to be treated as Ways and Means, and the amount re-appropriated as Parliament might direct.

8. The Imperial practice agrees in principle with the plan I have sketched out. The 24th section of the "Exchequer and Audit Departments Act of 1866" is couched in the following terms, expressing clearly the course adopted in the Appropriation Accounts of the United Kingdom which is now advocated for this Colony :—

"An Appropriation Account of Supply Grants shall exhibit on the charge side thereof the sum or sums appropriated by Parliament for the service of the Financial Year to which the account relates, and on the discharge side thereof the sums which may have actually come in course of payment within the same period, and no imprest or advance, of the application of which an account may not have been rendered to and allowed by the Accounting Department, shall be included on the discharge side thereof."
and

9. A similar principle has been applied to the accounts of the Colony of Victoria for the last seven years. By an Act passed in the year 1872 (36 Vic. No. 425) it is provided that "From and after the thirty-first day of December one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two no sum or sums of money which is are or shall be appropriated from the Consolidated Revenue for the service of any financial year shall be issued and applied except for such services and purposes as shall come in course of payment during the year for which such appropriation is or shall be made."

The financial year closes on the 30th of June in Victoria, and in their Report on the Accounts for the last year the Commissioners of Audit, when animadverting on the misuse of the Treasurer's advance, and the improper manipulation of the Treasury Balances, take occasion to say that, in their opinion, fifteen months would be the best limit to the life of a vote, thus agreeing with the term fixed by the Audit Act of New South Wales. They say that "the Revenue Accounts of each year should be closed at the 30th of June, and expenditure for the year should then cease to be incurred, but liabilities then actually outstanding might be paid during three months longer, when the votes and all warrants and orders depending upon them should finally lapse, and transfers and journal entries should cease."

It is understood that all accounts actually in course of payment, that is to say, which have been rendered to and allowed by the Accounting Departments, are included on the discharge side of the accounts, but not otherwise.

I may add that there is a Bill now before the Parliament of Victoria to carry out this view of the Audit Commissioners.

10. In my Report on the Accounts for 1878, clause 12, attention was drawn to an overcharge by the Bank of New South Wales for commission on certain payments made in London under the Banking Agreement of 1876. That agreement, clause 5, authorises a charge of one half per cent. on the half-yearly payment of interest on the Public Debt, and of one quarter per cent. on the principal sum of Debentures paid off, and also on all payments involving verification of accounts or the transmission to the Colony of documentary evidence or vouchers. The bank has persistently charged one-half per cent. on this latter class of payments and it will be seen by the statement given in the Appendix marked A, that the amount claimed from the bank, as in excess, up to the end of 1879 reached £3,504 5s. 3d. My last communication from the Treasury, under date 15th April, states that the Treasurer is in correspondence with the bank on the subject.

11. I have further to submit a statement of payments charged in the bank ^{See Appendix B.} sheets of the London branch of the Bank of New South Wales which have not been adjusted in the Sydney Account at the Treasury for want of Parliamentary appropriation, or otherwise of funds to which they could be charged. The total sum is £12,567 3s. 2d., being interest on special advances made in London to 30th June, 1879.

12. In the course of the examination of the accounts of the Council of Education it was found that there had been carried to the credit of the vote an amount allowed by the bank for interest on deposits. As it appeared to me that this properly belonged to the Consolidated Revenue, I took exception to it on the ground that the expenditure under the vote would thereby be in excess of the Parliamentary

Parliamentary appropriation. The Colonial Treasurer and the Minister of Justice and Public Instruction concurring in my view, the sum of £1,423 2s. 3d. was recovered and paid into the Treasury.

13. It is necessary that I should report the passing under the authority of the Governor and Executive Council of the several payments without proper vouchers, which will be found in a schedule appended to this Report marked C. It needs not that these should be separately noticed here. In some of the cases it was found impossible to obtain written vouchers duly certified or acquitted owing to the death of the accounting officer, or the removal of the recipient, whilst in others the vouchers had been lost or destroyed, and it was found impossible to replace them.

The sanction, therefore, of the Governor and Executive Council, under the authority of the 31st section of the Audit Act, was sought in order that the accounts might be closed, it having been previously ascertained in each case, as far as it was possible, that the sums specified had been properly disbursed, and that the disallowance could not otherwise be removed.

14. The usual Schedule of Transfers of Surplus Balances of Grants under the authority of the 18th section of the Audit Act, which have from time to time been specially reported to your Honorable House will be found in the Appendix marked D.

15. Obstacles having arisen in many instances to the passing of vouchers through the absence of proper authority for the acquittances, I felt it to be my duty to seek the advice of the Attorney General on the question of the Auditor General's responsibility in connexion with accounts paid through banks or agents in cases unsupported by the authority of the principals. The opinion of Mr. Attorney-General Windeyer, which with copy of the case put is submitted in the Appendix marked E, quiets the doubts I had entertained on that score, and it is now deemed sufficient for the Examiners to be satisfied with evidence of the exhibition of the authority at the Treasury, unless the amount be very large, in which case the production of the authority is deemed advisable.

16. A question was referred to me by the Treasurer in connection with a claim of Mr. C. A. Thurlow, of the Lands Department, to a Pension under Schedule B of the Constitution Act. Mr. Thurlow entered the Service in the year 1857, and it had been held that Schedule B was closed to services rendered subsequent to the introduction of the Constitution Act. I therefore reported adversely to his claim. Upon reference, however, to the Attorney General, that officer combating the view which had previously obtained, declared in favour of Mr. Thurlow's claim. As this opinion opened the door to subsequent claimants whose period of service did not reach beyond or even up to the limits of Mr. Thurlow's, I have thought it right to point attention to it in this Report.

17. Mr. C. E. Phillips, also of the Lands Department, having been repaid the deductions from his salary under the Superannuation Act of 1864, claimed to have a Pension granted him under Schedule B of the Constitution Act. This also was referred for the opinion of Mr. Attorney-General Windeyer on the point whether the return of his contributions invalidated the claim. The opinion in this case was in favour of the applicant, who died, however, before he could take advantage of it. The wording of the proviso to section 9 of the Superannuation Repeal Act of 1873 had led to the supposition that the refund of deductions barred a claim to Pension.

Mr.

Mr. Attorney-General Windeyer, however, shows that whatever bar it might be to a claim under the Superannuation Act of 1864, it could be none whatever to a claim under the Imperial Act. The words of the statute are—"Provided always that no such deductions shall be refunded to any person to whom any pension, gratuity or payment shall have been or be granted or made under this or any Imperial or the said repealed Act and that no pension gratuity or payment under this Act shall be granted or made to any person to whom any such deductions shall have been or shall be refunded as aforesaid." Nevertheless, under this opinion the claims of the officers, who have retired upon the Schedule B Fund, to the return of the deductions made from their salaries under the Superannuation Act of 1864, have been admitted.

18. It is my duty to report under the directions contained in the 36th section of the Audit Act, the following instances of defalcation in the accounts of the officers named:—

Mr. W. Mayne, Acting Telegraph Station Master at Vegetable Creek, was found to have short remitted collections to the amount of £10 11s. 8d., and to have appropriated a sum of 18s. sent to him to pay an account, making £11 9s. 8d.

There were, however, vouchers in Mayne's favour to the value of £9 13s. 8d., reducing the deficiency to £1 16s.

J. Sheehan, Sheep Inspector at Gundagai, was proceeded against for the alleged embezzlement of certain fees under the Diseases in Sheep Amendment Act, but evidence to the satisfaction of the jury was not forthcoming to secure a conviction.

Deficiencies have lately been brought to light in the accounts of the Prisons Department, and Mr. W. G. Beverley, the late Deputy Controller, has pleaded guilty to the embezzlement of two sums of money, viz.:—£40 2s. 6d., paid to him by the Roads Department for prison labour, Goulburn Gaol, and £38 for salaries, Bathurst Gaol.

I am not yet informed to what further extent this officer's peculations have been brought to light.

19. In the Appendix will be found a Statement of Unadjusted Advances at Appendix F. the close of the year, exhibiting the amounts outstanding, and the names of the officers or Departments responsible for their adjustment; and in addition to this I append Statement of Surcharges recovered upon the Accounts of Expenditure by Public Accountants, and upon the accounts of Collectors of Public Revenue. Vide Appendix G.

The sums recovered are—

Upon Expenditure Accounts	£1,047	12	10
„ Revenue Accounts	1,053	11	4
Total	£2,101	4	2

The sum of £793 9s. 2d., shown as recovered upon Pre-emptive Lease rents of Crown Lands, is made up of a very large number of small sums, and has resulted from a most laborious investigation into the Lease Rental Accounts, which were found to have drifted into an almost hopeless state of confusion.

20. In connection with these statements I feel bound to bring under the notice of your Honorable House the impediments in the way of prompt audit, caused by the negligence and inattention of some of the Public Accountants and certifying officers.

It

It has been held that owing to a defect in the wording of clause 29 of the Audit Act it is not competent for the Auditor General to raise, nor for the Colonial Treasurer to enforce, a surcharge until after the Audit Office queries and observations have been answered and further accounts and explanations have been rendered. Under this ruling it is obvious that a negligent officer has only to lay the Audit Office queries and observations on one side to render this important clause of the Act, in such cases, inoperative. A notable instance of this kind may be adduced where, as I have been informed, a Treasury Inspector found seventy-two unopened queries in the office of a late Police Magistrate and Clerk of Petty Sessions.

Another instance may be cited of a Returning Officer in whose favour an advance was made by the Treasury in the year 1877 to defray election expenses. The usual reminders, that accounts in adjustment of this advance had not been received and were required, were forwarded to this officer from month to month without the smallest effect, and they have remained to this day utterly unnoticed.

These are not the only instances of the neglect I have adverted to, but they are sufficient to afford to your Honorable House an idea of the impediments met with in the audit of the Public Accounts, where the certifying officers are negligent, obstructive, or dishonest.

21. I append a schedule of payments made without warrants and disallowed in the Treasurer's Accounts.

Certificates of Discharge have been issued to the Treasurer for each month of the year, excepting the month of October. In that month occur three payments out of the Treasurer's Advance Account, for which no vouchers have been as yet furnished.

The entries in the cash sheets show the payments charged to be

J. Young	...	...	...	...	...	...	£247	14	10
Exhibition Commissioners	...	...	...	...	...	...	£1,000	0	0

I have not yet been enabled to certify for the month of June, 1878, for the reason given in my Report on the accounts for that year. The necessary information is still wanting.

22. The usual statements of the receipt and expenditure under the Registration of Brands and Public Abattoirs Act, which are not separately shown in the Treasurer's Statements are given in the Appendix.

23. I have to report that the accounts of the Government Savings Bank for the past year have been examined and certified, and that the Bullion Accounts of the Sydney Branch of the Royal Mint have undergone the usual examination.

24. A specification of the net liabilities of the Consolidated Revenue Fund proper for 1879, so far as appropriated to the end of the year, will be found under Appendix K, in continuation of similar Returns furnished with previous Reports.

25. Subject to the foregoing observations it only remains for me to certify that the Statements herewith forwarded are found to agree with the Accounts furnished to me under the provisions of the Audit Act.

APPENDIX E.

APPENDIX E.

Case for the opinion of the Honorable the Attorney General.

By section 14 of the Audit Act of 1870 the Treasurer is required to obtain from the persons to whom moneys are payable, acquittances "under their hands" or "those of their duly authorized agents or bankers."

By section 28 the Auditor General is directed to discharge the Treasurer "for all payments made * * * accompanied by the receipts or acquittances of the respective persons to whom such payments have been so made."

In the examination of acquittances for payments by the Treasurer, with a view to the discharge prescribed by section 28, in cases where the acquittance of an agent or banker is proffered instead of that of the principal, is the Auditor General bound to satisfy himself that the payment to such agent or banker has been duly authorized?

I desire also to be advised whether the principle that may apply to direct payments by the Treasurer would be equally applicable to payments made by Public Officers as sub-agents of the Treasurer out of advances to them for the Public Service.

C. ROLLESTON.

Department of Audit, 6th March, 1879.

OPINION.

THE question submitted by the Auditor General's letter of 6/3/79 appears to be "what is the extent of his liability under the Audit Act in cases where he passes or rejects acquittances not signed by principals or authorised by them." But the case sent with the letter submits two questions. With reference to the first question "is the Auditor General bound to satisfy himself that payments mentioned in section 14 of the Audit Act are represented by acquittances of the duly authorized agents or bankers of the persons to whom the accounts in question were payable?" I am of opinion that the words "duly authorised" do not govern "bankers" but only "agents." The acquittance of a banker therefore with whom the account of the person in question was at the time of payment kept appears to be a sufficient exoneration of the Auditor General or Treasurer. Where however the acquittance is that of an agent such agents authority must in strictness be commensurate with the nature of the acquittance. A married woman may be her husband's agent in intendment of law for many purposes, but on the husband's death the relation of agent ceases with the coverture. In practice however probably no great danger would follow the acceptance of the widow's discharge for wages, &c., due to the deceased husband. Of course if the husband left a will the executor or executrix would be an ascertainable person. In this class of cases the discharge of the executor should be obtained.

In cases of intestacy no great danger need be apprehended where the amount to be paid is not large and it would obviously be very hard upon the widow to insist on her obtaining letters of administration before accepting her acquittance for the husband's wages or other sums due to him of a small amount.

If however the amount due to the deceased intestate is considerable (say over £50) I think the legal representative should be insisted on.

In answer to the second question I am of opinion that the Auditor General is not bound to satisfy himself that the payment has been made to the right banker or duly authorized agent; that responsibility must remain with the Treasury where letters of administration and other authorities to receive money may well be produced on payment which it would be impossible to retain and produce to the Auditor General.

I am further of opinion that the principle which should govern the discharge of payments made directly by the Treasurer should also apply to payments made by public officers as his sub-agents out of advances upon which they are authorised to draw.
