The NSW Government pays respect to the traditional owners and custodians on whose land we walk, work and live. We acknowledge and learn from the strengths of Aboriginal people, their culture and connection to Country, land and waters across NSW. Aboriginal physical, social and emotional wellbeing are included in the focused efforts outlined in Ageing Well in NSW: Action Plan 2021-2022.

Actions to support implementation of the Ageing Well in NSW: Seniors Strategy 2021–2031	31

Who are seniors?

Seniors are older people over a certain age but the starting age at which anyone can be deemed a 'senior' in NSW can vary from 60 years of age and onwards, or 50 years of age and onwards for Aboriginal people. It's important to remember that seniors are not one homogenous group... how a person ages and their expectations of ageing are impacted by a range of factors. The needs and hopes of people over 65, over 75 and over 85 can also be quite different.

First two-year Ageing Well in NSW: Seniors Strategy 2021–2031 Action Plan

This Action Plan supports Ageing Well in NSW: Seniors Strategy 2021–2031. It sets out actions under the four focus areas of the strategy for the first two years of its implementation.

The strategy, in conjunction with the actions in this document, supports the NSW Government's vision that all people in NSW experience the benefits of living longer and enjoy opportunities to participate in, contribute to and be included in their communities. Achieving this vision paves the way for all generations – present and future – to have healthy, active and better lives in ageing.

The Ageing Well in NSW: Seniors Strategy 2021–2031 will be supported by NSW Government action plans every two years commencing with 2021–2022. A mid-term review of the strategy will be undertaken in 2026–2027.

Focus area 1: Living in age-friendly environments
